The 6-Step Workflow

Del plan a la mesa, sin estrés

Boricua cooking isn't hard — it's just built on one base and a lot of repetition. Do these six steps once, and dinner answers itself all week.

STEP 1

Master the base

20 MIN, ONCE A MONTH

Batch your sofrito and freeze 28 cubes. This is the engine of the whole system — every single dinner below starts with one cube.

STEP 2

Stock the pantry

20 MIN, ONCE A MONTH

Check the pantry list (page 7) and top up. Rice, beans, sofrito, oil, garlic and onions cover 80% of the 50 dinners.

STEP 3

Plan from the 50

10 MIN, SUNDAY

Pick 3–5 dinners from the 50 list. Write them on the weekly planner — done in minutes because there's no recipe to read.

STEP 4

Match to your fridge

2 MIN

Use the matching tool (page 6): what you already have decides tonight. Leftover rice? You're 20 minutes from mampostiao.

STEP 5

Prep the base

60 MIN, SUNDAY

One pot of arroz blanco, one pot of habichuelas, one tray of seasoned chicken. Pre-cooked bases turn 30-minute dinners into 15.

STEP 6

Cook the template

30 MIN, EVERY NIGHT

Never memorize a recipe again — run the 30-minute template (next page). Sofrito + protein + starch + rest, every time.

The weekly rhythm: Sunday = plan + prep (90 min total). Monday–Friday = cook only (30 min). Saturday = the fun one — mofongo, alcapurrias, or a proper pernil day.

The 30-Minute Template

La plantilla que nunca falla

Every boricua weeknight dinner is this same five-move pattern with different players. Learn the template, and the 50 dinners write themselves.

1 — SOFRITO

The base

1 cube in hot oil 2 min

2 — PROTEIN

The star

chicken, beef, pork,
fish, beans 5–8 min

3 — SAUCE

The flavor

tomato, broth,
olives, calabaza 5 min

4 — STARCH

The comfort

pre-made rice, or rice into the pot 10–15 min

5 — REST

The payoff

5 min off heat, then fluff & plate 5 min

SWAP ANY PLAYER

- ☐ Protein: chicken, ground beef, pork chops, fish, shrimp, beans
- ☐ Sauce: tomato sauce, broth, sofrito + water, calabaza purée
- ☐ Starch: arroz blanco, gandules rice, leftover rice, tostones
- ☐ Bases pre-made Sunday → dinner in 15 minutes flat

SEASONING SHORTLIST

- ☐ Adobo on every protein — the default
- ☐ Sazón for color and depth in rice and guisos
- ☐ Oregano + bay leaf for stews
- ☐ Alcaparrado whenever you want a pop

Pro tip: if the protein is pre-seasoned (Step 5), skip the adobo — you're already at 20 minutes. This template is the "no-recipe" in the 50 no-recipe dinners.

Pork chops + sofrito	Chuletas Guisadas (20)
White fish or shrimp + sofrito	Pescado/Camarones Guisados (42–43)

Black beans + rice	Arroz con Frijoles Negros (9)
Cornmeal + cheese	Sorullos (28)

How to use it: scan the left column before you shop. Whatever you land on three times = your three dinners this week. The tool kills the “what’s for dinner?” panic because it starts from the truth of your fridge.
