BEFORE YOU COOK

The Ingredient Finder

Boricua cooking on the mainland. These swaps keep the flavor authentic when the original is hard to find.

Ingredient	What it is	Mainland swap
Culantro (recao)	Long-leaf herb — the backbone of sofrito	2 parts cilantro + 1 small green bell pepper
Ají dulce	Sweet, fruity little chili	Green bell pepper + pinch of habanero
Sazón	Seasoning blend for color & depth	¼ tsp each garlic powder, cumin, coriander + annatto
Adobo	All-purpose seasoning rub	Salt + garlic powder + pepper + oregano
Green plantains	Starchy, unripe — for tostones & mofongo	Most Latino grocers; green bananas in a pinch
Yautía & ñame	Root vegetables for sancocho & pasteles	Russet potato (flavor differs, texture holds)
Alcaparrado	Olives + capers + pimento	Green olives + capers
Gandules	Pigeon peas	Canned or frozen gandules at Latino grocers; dried chickpeas as a last resort

Pro tip: batch your sofrito and freeze it in ice-cube trays. One cube per dish — Monday's arroz con pollo tastes like abuela's Sunday.

THE 45-MINUTE FOUNDATION

The Batch Sofrito Plan

Sofrito is the soul of boricua cooking. Make a big batch once, and 25 of these recipes start with "one cube of sofrito."

Ingredient	Batch for 20 cubes
Culantro (recao)	3 large bunches
Cilantro	2 bunches
Ajíes dulces	20 (or 1 green bell pepper)
Green bell pepper	2, seeded
Red bell pepper	1, seeded
Yellow onion	2 large
Garlic	2 full heads
Olive oil	1/3 cup

The method

- 1 Wash everything, rough-chop.
- 2 Pulse in batches in the food processor — not to a paste, leave it rustic.
- 3 Sauté in the oil, then spoon into ice-cube trays.
- 4 Freeze solid, pop out, store in freezer bags.

One cube = one dish

- ☐ Arroz con pollo / gandules
- ☐ Pollo or carne guisada
- ☐ Habichuelas guisadas
- ☐ Picadillo
- ☐ Sancocho & mampostiao
- ☐ Bacalao guisado

Pro tip: frozen sofrito keeps 3 months. Label the bags — trust us, unlabeled frozen green cubes all look the same.

NOCHEBUENA, DONE

Holiday Menu Builder

The full Nochebuena table, from pork to dessert. Tick the boxes for your crowd — every dish lives in this cookbook.

Nochebuena (Christmas Eve) — feeds 10–14

- ☐ Pernil (page 20) — the centerpiece
- ☐ Arroz con Gandules (page 13)
- ☐ Ensalada de Coditos (page 33)
- ☐ Pasteles (page 30) — or 2 per guest, everyone wants one
- ☐ Coquito (page 31)
- ☐ Arroz con Dulce (page 32) — dessert to share

Timeline — the night before

- ☐ Marinate the pernil (12–24 hrs)
- ☐ Make the pasteles masa & filling, wrap and refrigerate
- ☐ Boil the coquito so it's chilled by tomorrow
- ☐ Soak nothing — gandules go straight in the rice

Christmas Day morning

- ☐ Roast the pernil at 300°F — walk away for 5 hours
- ☐ Set the rice pot to simmer with the gandules
- ☐ Steam the pasteles 1 hour before serving
- ☐ Crisp the pernil skin, make the coditos, pour the coquito

Pro tip: pernil can rest 45 minutes under foil and stay hot — crisp the skin at 450°F after carving off the top layer, so the pork below stays juicy.
