BEFORE YOU COOK

Why sofrito, and the swap sheet

Sofrito is the soul of Puerto Rican cooking. Before the rice hits the pot, sofrito is there — frying gently until the kitchen smells like the island. And yes, you can build it on the mainland.

Ingredient	Its job	Mainland swap
Culantro (recao)	The backbone — boricua perfume	2 parts cilantro + a little green bell pepper
Ajíes dulces	Sweet, fruity, no heat	Extra green bell pepper
Green + red bell pepper	Color + sweetness	Any sweet pepper
Onion & garlic	Depth + punch	Never swap these — the law
Olive oil	Binder + freezer friend	Any neutral oil
Vinegar + salt	Brightness + shelf life	Lime juice shortens fridge life

Pro tip: pulse, rest, pulse. Over-blending heats the base and turns it brown; coarse and bright green is the goal.
